Credit Philosophy

The Lenox/WesLend philosophy is to offer the Agency Conventional LP program with minimal overlays to our client. All loans are evaluated in accordance with the following principals:

- All loans must be submitted to Loan Product Adviser (LPA).
- Each loan is evaluated in accordance with Freddie Mac, the corresponding overlay matrix, and the policies outlined within this Program Guide.
- Each loan applicant is underwritten individually and all credit standards are applied consistently to each borrower.
- All factors are considered when evaluating a loan file. The underwriting decision is not based on any single item or factor.

Application Package

Contents of the Application Package

The Loan Application

- Form 65, Uniform Residential Loan Application must be used for all loan applications.
- Form 65A, Statement of Assets and Liabilities, may be used to supplement Form 65 if needed.
- A completed Form 65 is used to begin the process of determining the borrower's credit reputation and capacity to repay the loan.
- Information on the initial application must be entered as originally provided by the borrower whether handwritten or typed. The liability portion of the loan application may be completed directly from the credit report either manually or through an automated process.
- The information given by the borrower(s) on the application must be consistent with both the identifying information in the credit report as well as with the verifications in the loan file. For any loan where there is a material discrepancy, obtain a written explanation for the discrepancy.
- The final Form 65 must reflect accurate and complete information as of the Note date. All of the borrower's debts incurred through the Note date must be included on the final Form 65 and Form 65A, if used, and must be considered in the calculation of the borrower's debt-to-income ratio.
- The final Form 65 must be complete, legible, dated and signed by the borrower(s) signing the Note.

Electronic and Fax Copies of the Loan Application

- An initial Form 65 and Form 65A, if necessary, may be received as an electronic record or as a fax copy.

 - Facsimile verification forms are acceptable if it is clear from the document that the information was sent by facsimile transmission directly from the source and may be considered to be originals. Verifications provided by any other source, such as the agent or the builder, are not acceptable.
 - The original documents may not contain any alterations, erasures, correction fluid or correction tape.
 - An electronic verification is a computer generated document, accessed and printed from the Internet that may be used to verify information such as the borrower's employment, income or funds on deposit.  - Homeowners association dues; and
 - Payments on secondary financing.

- Loan product Advisor calculates and assesses the borrower's qualifying ratios based on the information input to the program. For Accept mortgages LPA has determined that the borrower's qualifying ratios are acceptable.

Monthly Debt-to-Income Ratio

- The monthly debt payment is the sum of the monthly charges for the following liabilities:
 - Monthly housing expense;
 - Payments on all installment debts with more than ten months of payments remaining including debts that are in a period of either deferment or forbearance;
 - Alimony, child support or maintenance payments with more than ten months of payments remaining;
 - Monthly payments on revolving or open-end accounts regardless of the balance.
 - In the absence of a monthly payment on the credit report, and if there is no documentation in the loan file indicating the monthly payment amount, 5% of the outstanding balance will be considered to be the required monthly payment amount.
 - Monthly payments on open-end accounts (accounts which require the balance to be paid in full monthly) are not required to be included in the monthly debt payments if the borrower has sufficient verified funds to pay off the outstanding account balance. The funds must be in addition to any funds used to qualify the borrower;
 - Monthly lease payments regardless of the number of payments remaining with the exception of payments for solar panels subject to a lease agreement, power purchase agreement (PPA) or similar type of agreement;
 - Aggregate net rental loss from investment properties owned when applicable; and
 - Monthly payment amounts for other properties including principal and interest on the first lien and any secondary financing, taxes, insurance and, when applicable mortgage insurance premiums, leasehold payments, and homeowners' association dues.

Student Loans

- For student loans in repayment use the greater of:
 - The monthly payment amount reported on the credit report; or
 - 0.5% of the original loan balance or the outstanding loan balance as reported on the credit report.
- For student loans in deferment or forbearance use the greater of:
 - The monthly payment amount reported on the credit report; or
 - 1% of the original loan balance or the outstanding balance as reported on the credit report.
- For student loan forgiveness, cancellation, discharge or employment contingent repayment programs the student loan payment may be excluded from the debt-to-income ratio provided the loan file contains documentation that indicates the following:
 - The student loan has ten or less monthly payments remaining until the full balance of the student loan is forgiven, cancelled, discharged, or in the case of an employment contingent repayment program, paid; or
 - The monthly payment on the student loan is deferred or is in forbearance and the full balance of the student loan will be forgiven, cancelled, discharged or in the case of an employment contingent repayment program, paid, at the end of the deferment or forbearance period; and
 - The borrower currently meets the requirements for the student loan forgiveness, cancellation, discharge or employment contingent repayment program, as applicable, and there is no evidence of circumstances that will make the borrower ineligible in the future.

Other Installment Debt

- When a monthly payment on an installment debt, other than a student loan, is not reported on the credit report or is listed as deferred or in forbearance, obtain documentation verifying the monthly payment amount.
- Payments on installment debts secured by financial assets where repayment may be obtained by liquidating the asset, such as 401(k) loans, may be excluded from the debt-to-income ratio regardless of the payment amount or number of payments remaining.
 - The loan secured by the financial asset must have been made by a financial institution. Consider only the portion of the funds that exceeds the loan balance as funds available to the borrower to qualify for the loan transaction.

Current Primary Residence Pending Sale

- If the borrower's current primary residence is pending sale and the sale will not close before the Note date of the mortgage, the monthly payment amount for the property pending sale may be excluded from the debt-to income ratio if the loan file contains:
 - An executed sales contract for the property pending sale.
 - If the executed sales contract includes a financing contingency the loan file must also contain evidence that the financing contingency has been cleared; or
 - Obtain evidence of a lender's commitment to the buyer of the property that is pending sale; or
 - An executed buyout agreement that is part of an employer relocation plan where the employer/relocation company takes responsibility for the outstanding mortgage(s).

Contingent Liabilities

- A contingent liability may be excluded from the debt-to-income ratio when meeting the requirements in the table below:

Debt Type	Eligibility and Documentation Requirements
<ul style="list-style-type: none"> • Installment (Non-Mortgage) • Revolving • Monthly Lease Payment 	Documentation in the loan file must indicate the following: <ul style="list-style-type: none"> • A party other than the borrower has been making timely payments for the most recent 12 months regardless of whether the party is obligated on the debt. • The party making the payments is not an interested party to the subject property or to the loan transactions.
<ul style="list-style-type: none"> • Mortgage 	Documentation in the loan file must indicate the following: <ul style="list-style-type: none"> • A party other than the borrower has been making timely payments for the most recent 12 months. • The party making the payments is obligated on the Note for the mortgage that is being excluded. • The borrower is not on the title for the mortgaged property. • The party making the payments is not an interested party to the subject property or to the loan transaction.

Mortgage Assumption

- A mortgage may be excluded from the debt-to-income ratio if the borrower is listed as the borrower on a mortgage that has been assumed by another party.
- Verify that the borrower no longer owns the property by documenting the property transfer and obtaining a copy of any assumption agreement executed by the transferee.

Assigned Debt

- A liability on a secured debt, including a mortgage, may be excluded from the debt-to-income ratio if the obligation to make the payments on a debt of the borrower:
 - Has been assigned to another by court order such a divorce decree; and
 - The order is documented, such as with a copy of the divorce decree, and the transfer of title is documented.

Debt Paid by Borrower's Business

- When a self-employed borrower is obligated on a debt that has been paid by the borrower's business for 12 months or longer, the monthly payment for the debt may be excluded from the debt-to-income ratio if the following requirements are met:
 - The loan file contains evidence that the debt has been paid timely by the borrower's business for no less than the most recent 12 months; and
 - The tax returns evidence that the business expenses associated with the debt, such as interest, lease payments, taxes, and insurance, have been reported and support that the debt has been paid by the business.

Payments for Solar Panels Subject to a Lease

- Lease payments for solar panels may be excluded from the debt-to-income ratio if the lease:
 - Provides for delivery of a specific amount of energy for an agreed upon payment during a given period; and
 - Includes a production guarantee where the borrower is compensated on a prorated basis when the energy produced by the solar panels is less than the level required in the lease agreement.
- Payments for solar panels subject to a PPA or similar type of agreement may be excluded from the debt-to-income ratio if the payment is calculated based only on the generated energy.
- The loan file must contain a copy of the lease agreement, PPA or similar type of agreement as applicable.

General Requirements for Stable monthly Income

Stable Monthly Income

Overview

- Stable monthly income is the borrower's verified gross monthly income from all acceptable and verifiable sources that can reasonably be expected to continue for at least the next three years. For each income source used to qualify the borrower determine that both the source and the amount of the income are stable.
- The income qualification sources used to qualify the borrower, whether or not specifically addressed in these guidelines, and the documentation in the loan file must be evaluated for stable monthly income qualification requirements. Income qualification sources that do not meet the requirements of these guidelines or that are not calculated correctly may invalidate the Loan Product Advisor Risk Class and Feedback Certificate.
- Underwriters must include a written analysis of the income qualification sources and amount in the loan file. All documentation used to establish stable monthly income must be retained in the loan file.

Income Stability and History

- Income types with pre-determined fixed payment amounts that occur with regular frequency and/or defined and documentable terms lend support to income stability and the analysis of historical receipt is typically not necessary.
- Income types that fluctuate must be viewed from the perspective of historical earnings. Consider the length of history, degree of fluctuation and/or irregularity of the income.

- When evaluating stability of income based upon historical receipt additional layering of risk may be present depending on the degree of income volatility. Additional documentation such as an additional year of earnings history may be necessary to support income stability.
- In most instances a two year history of receiving income is required in order for the income to be considered stable and eligible to be used for qualifying.
- When the borrower has less than a two year history of receiving income, underwriters must provide a written analysis to justify the determination that the income that is used to qualify the borrower is stable. While the sources of income may vary, the borrower should have a consistent level of income despite changes in the sources of income.
- For all income used to qualify the borrower, determine whether the income is reasonably expected to continue. This determination must focus on the borrower’s past employment/self-employment history, history of receipt of other income and the probability of continued consistent receipt of the income used to qualify the borrower.
- Consider all income for qualifying the borrower as long as there is no knowledge, information or documentation that contradicts a reasonable expectation of continuance or probability of consistent receipt over the next three years.
- Continuance of income is categorized as follows:
 - Income and earnings types typically without documentable continuance (likely to continue) – Refer to Chart A below.
 - Income types with documentable continuance – Refer to Chart B below.
 - Income types that may or may not have documentable continuance, depending upon the source – Refer to Chart C below.

Income and Earnings Types without Documentable Continuance

For earnings and income types that do not have documentable continuance, there is no requirement to obtain documentation to verify income continuance, absent any knowledge or information that the income is no longer being received or is likely to cease. When there is knowledge or information that the income may not be reasonably expected to continue, conduct additional evaluation and/or obtain documentation in order to determine if the income can be used. For example, if a borrower has been receiving additional employed income such as overtime or bonus, but there is information or documentation evidencing that the income is already discontinued or will be discontinued due to the completion of a project or termination of a bonus program, the “likely to continue” requirement would not be met and the income cannot be used for qualification purposes.

Chart C:
Income Types That May or May Not Have Documentable Continuance

Certain income types are comprised of multiple income sources each of which may have specific requirements with respect to continuance, whether defined or undefined. For this reason, this grouping of income types may or may not have documentable continuance. For example, if the source of retirement income is Social Security retirement benefits, no additional documentation of continuance is required. If the source is a retirement annuity from an insurance company, there will generally be a defined term in which case continuance must be documented.

Highlights of the requirements from the individual income topics are provided for illustrative purposes only.

Retirement Income (b) (Social Security, Defined Benefit Pension, Annuity, or Other Similar Benefit)	Underwriters must be knowledgeable about the source of the specific income type in order to determine whether or not documentable continuance is applicable. This includes knowledge of factors with respect to whether the payments are received pursuant to a written agreement, government program, law and/or regulation, as well as the applicable eligibility criteria governing the continued receipt of the income. (a) Pending or current re-evaluation of medical eligibility for insurance and/or benefit payments is not considered an indication that the insurance and/or benefit payment will not continue. (b) Refer to the Other Income section of these guidelines for these income types.
Survivor and Dependent Benefits (b) (Social Security Survivor Benefits, Survivors' Department of Veterans Affairs (VA) Benefits, or Other Similar Benefits)
Long-Term Disability Income (a), (b) (Social Security Disability Benefits, VA Disability Compensation, Worker's Compensation, Private Disability Insurance)
Social Security Supplemental Security Income (SSI) (a), (b)

- In addition to the income sources described above, asset qualification sources that meet the requirements of these guidelines may also be used to qualify the borrower for the loan.
- For each asset qualification source used to qualify the borrower, determine that the source of the asset and the amount of the asset are reasonable and stable.

- Regardless of Loan Product Advisor approval, the asset qualification sources used to qualify the borrower and the documentation in the loan file must be evaluated for stable monthly asset qualification requirements.
- Asset qualification sources that do not meet these requirements or are not calculated correctly may invalidate the Loan Product Advisor Risk Class on the Feedback Certificate.
- Include a written analysis of the asset qualification source and amount in the loan file. All documentation used to establish stable monthly asset qualification must be retained in the loan file.

Employed Income Documentation and Verification Requirements

- For each income and asset qualification source used to qualify the borrower, obtain the required documentation and verifications.
- Additional documentation may be necessary to evaluate, justify, and explain the qualification of the borrower. All documentation must be maintained in the loan file.
- This section contains income documentation and verification requirements for the following subjects:

Third-Party Verification Service Providers

- Employment and income verifications obtained through third-party verification service providers are acceptable. The verifications must be received by the originator directly from the third-party verification service provider. A copy of the verification must be retained in the loan file and must meet the following requirements:
 - Employment and income verifications must contain sufficient information to determine stable monthly income.
 - If the verification is completed using employment and/or income information from an electronic database, the verification must evidence that the information in the database is no more than 35 days old.
- If any required information is missing, obtain additional documentation to supplement the third-party verification. Ensure the accuracy and integrity of the information provided by the third-party verification service.

Tax Returns

- Obtain the borrower’s most recent federal tax return(s) for certain types of income and/or employment characteristics when using the income to qualify the borrower. Tax returns must be:
 - The borrower’s signed copy of the U.S. federal income tax returns that were filed with the Internal Revenue Service (IRS).
 - A complete tax return including all applicable schedules and forms including all W2s, K1s, and 1099s.
- If a tax transcript is obtained and contains information sufficient to meet these verification requirements it may be used in lieu of other required documentation.
- Unreimbursed employee expenses reported on Schedule A of the borrower’s federal individual income tax returns are not required to be deducted from the borrower’s income unless the expenses are associated with commissions that are greater than or equal to 25% of the income from the commissioned employment.

Employed Income

General Requirements

- Determine that the borrower's income is stable and likely to continue at the level used to qualify for at least the next three years.
- Analyze all income documentation while taking into consideration the characteristics of the employed income such as employment and income source, type, and stability of the employment history.
- A borrower who has had different types of employment in the past may be considered to have stable income if the income amount has remained at a consistent level.
- When evaluating a borrower who has changed jobs frequently, focus on whether the changes have affected the borrower's ability to pay the borrower's obligations.
- Primary employment is considered as the borrower's primary source of employed income whether derived from employment such as full-time employment, part-time employment, or full-time and/or part-time seasonal employment.
- Secondary employment is considered as any type of employment such as a second part-time job or multiple jobs that are in addition to the borrower's primary employment.

Primary Employment History Requirements

- In most instances the borrower should have at least a two year history of documented primary employment.
- For borrowers who are active-duty members of the United States Armed Forces, a history of military employment is not required for the employment to be considered stable.
- The tenure of the borrower's employment with the same employer or in the same or a similar industry lends support to the analysis of employment stability.
- Under certain circumstances, when a borrower has less than a two year history of primary employment, the underwriter may be able to justify and determine that the employment is stable. Examples that may support less than a two year history of primary employment include the following:
 - For a borrower returning to the workforce after a period of extended absence, for any reason, documentation is provided to support a stable employment history that directly preceded the extended absence.
 - For a borrower new to the workforce, documentation is provided that supports the borrower's recent attendance at school or enrollment in a training program prior to beginning his/her current employment.
 - For a borrower who experienced recent employment gaps documentation is obtained from the borrower explaining the circumstances surrounding the gap(s).

Secondary Employment History Requirements

- In most instances the borrower should have at least a two year history of secondary employment for the employment to be considered stable.
- Under certain circumstances, when a borrower has less than a two year secondary employment history but has at least a 12 month history, the underwriter may be able to justify and determine the employment is stable.
- Examples that may support less than a two year history of secondary employment include the following:
 - The borrower previously held a job with base non-fluctuating earnings working 40 hours per week for multiple years. Due to reasons such as position elimination, workforce reduction, or illness, the borrower is no longer employed at this job and is now working at multiple part-time jobs that are similar in hours and pay to the previous full-time job.
 - The borrower is employed in the educational system as a teacher. During the previous summer the borrower taught summer school within the same educational system and is now starting summer school teaching for the current year. Although the two year history is not yet fully developed, given the job type and current employment situation, the underwriter may be able to justify including the summer school income provided an accurate qualifying income amount can be established and documented based on the previous and current earnings. Additional documentation to determine the stable monthly income may be appropriate, such as the number of classes, the pay rate, and similarity to the prior year.

Earnings Types

- The following requirements and guidance apply to all primary and secondary employed income and all applicable employment characteristics including full-time, part-time and seasonal employment.

Earnings Type	Requirements and Guidance
Base Non-Fluctuating Employment Earnings	For the purpose of determining stable monthly income, base non-fluctuating employment earnings are considered to be earnings with a pre-determined and agreed upon rate of pay and number of hours worked each pay period. <ul style="list-style-type: none"> The pay rate and number of hours worked must be reflected on an ongoing consistent basis for each pay period and be fully supported by the year-to-date income. Base non-fluctuating earnings may include both exempt (salaried) and non-exempt earnings but the pay rate and number of hours worked must not fluctuate between pay periods. Base non-fluctuating earnings may include military base (basic) pay. For members of the United States Armed Forces, active-duty pay is considered base non-fluctuating earnings. Base non-fluctuating earnings may include part-time earnings, provided the number of hours worked each pay period, are pre-determined. Base non-fluctuating earnings do not include additional employed income such as bonus, overtime or tip income.
Fluctuating Hourly Employment Earnings	For the purpose of determining stable monthly income fluctuating hourly employment earnings are considered to be employment earnings with hours that may fluctuate each week or pay period. The hours are not pre-determined but the employer and the borrower may have a general expectation of weekly hours. The hourly pay rate is a pre-determined and agreed upon fixed amount. <ul style="list-style-type: none"> Fluctuating hourly earnings may be determined by a review of the year-to-date income verification documentation with analysis focused on hours per pay period and year-to-date earnings in relation to the hours worked. Fluctuating hourly earnings are not considered base or salaried earnings. Fluctuating hourly employment earnings are typically representative of non-exempt earnings. Fluctuating hourly earnings do not include additional employed income such as bonus, overtime or tips.

Additional Employed Income

General Overview

- A borrower may receive additional income from employment such as commissions, bonus and overtime pay.
- Generally additional employed income is received in connection with the primary or secondary employment. There are instances where the income is received through separate sources such as the military Reserve or National Guard.
- If additional employed income is used to qualify the borrower, determine that the amount of income used to qualify the borrower is stable and complies with the requirements below for each income type.
- All income must be either expected to continue or have documented continuance for at least the next three years.

Income History and Stability

- Many additional employed income types are fluctuating income. The stability of fluctuating income is determined based primarily upon historical earnings so it is imperative that a sufficient income history has been established.
- For this reason most income types that fluctuate have an income requirement of two years.
- In certain instances a shorter history may still be considered stable if the underwriter provides a written analysis and obtains sufficient supporting documentation justifying the determination of stability.
- When making this determination, take into consideration factors such as income and/or employment characteristics and the overall layering of risk factors including the borrower's demonstrated ability to repay obligations.
- In no event may the income history be less than 12 months.
- For the purposes of determining stable monthly income, fixed additional employed income earnings are considered to be earnings that are based on a pre-determined and agreed upon fixed amount of pay that is fully documented, such as an automobile allowance, mortgage differential payments, or military entitlements.
- For the purposes of determining stable monthly income, fluctuating additional employed income earnings are considered to be earnings that fluctuate on a regular basis, often based on factors such as hours worked, job type, and performance.
- Fluctuating earnings may include income types such as commissions, overtime, bonus, tips, income from the Reserve or National Guard, and unemployment compensation associated with seasonal employment.
- The chart below includes the stable monthly income and documentation requirements for additional employed income:

Employed Income Calculation

- For all income determine how the borrower is paid in order to accurately analyze and calculate the stable monthly income used for qualifying. The documentation in the loan file must support the income used to qualify.
- If the documentation does not support the income used for qualifying purposes, further analysis is required and additional documentation may be necessary to support the stability of the income and the amount of income used to qualify.
- Base non-fluctuating earnings may include both exempt (salaried) and non-exempt earnings. The pay rate and number of hours worked must not fluctuate between pay periods.
- The income documentation must support base non-fluctuating earnings.
- The following chart describes the calculation methods for base non-fluctuating employment earnings taking into consideration the typical pay periods of weekly, bi-weekly, semi-monthly and monthly:

Calculation of Base Non-Fluctuating Employment Earnings
Pay Period Type	Calculation
Weekly	Multiply the base non-fluctuating weekly gross pay by 52 pay periods and divide by 12 months
Bi-Weekly (Every Two Weeks)	Multiply the base non-fluctuating biweekly gross pay by 26 pay periods and divide by 12 months
Semi-Monthly (Twice per Month)	Multiply the base non-fluctuating semi-monthly gross pay by 24 pay periods and divide by 12 months
Monthly	Use the base non-fluctuating monthly gross pay
Annual Base Non-Fluctuating Salary Paid Out < 12 Months per Year	For some borrowers, such as certain employees in the educational field, the annual base non-fluctuating salary may be paid over a time period of less than 12 months. For example, if the annual base non-fluctuating salary is paid out over 10 months of the year, multiply the monthly base salary amount by 10 months and divide by 12

Analysis of Fluctuating Income

- The foundation to the appropriate analysis and determination of income stability when evaluating fluctuating earnings is documenting and verifying an adequate length of historical earnings. The degree of volatility present within the income and/or the irregularity of the income must be analyzed. Evaluate the income trend and use the amount that is most likely to continue for the next three years.
- Review all year-to-date earnings and compare those earnings with the earnings from the last one or two years depending upon the documentation requirements. If a significant degree of volatility or irregularity is present such as year-over-year or quarter-over-quarter, additional analysis is required and additional documentation may be necessary to determine income stability. The analysis and documentation must support the amount of income used to qualify the borrower.
- If the analysis of income shows a declining trend, conduct further analysis. In order to determine if the income is currently stable and can be used for qualification purposes, determine the reason for the declining income and whether or not there is documentation showing the current income has stabilized.
- If it is determined that the income showing a declining trend is now stable, the lower income figure must be used. The income cannot be averaged using a previous higher level unless there is a documentation of a one-time occurrence such as an injury that prevented the borrower from working or earning full income for a period of time. Evidence must be obtained that the borrower is now back to the income level that was previously earned.
- The earnings reflected on the year-to-date income verification documentation must fully support and be consistent with the most recent earnings.
- If the earnings are consistent and supported, average the most recent year-to-date income over the applicable number of months documented.
- If the earnings are not consistent, show a high degree of volatility or an irregular pattern, additional analysis is required and additional documentation such as an additional year of income history or an explanation from the employer explaining the reason for the inconsistency, will likely be necessary to determine income stability and develop an accurate calculation of qualifying income.

- In addition to the requirements in the table above, the determination of stable RS and RSU income used to qualify must include an analysis of changes in the company’s stock price as well as past and future distributions detailed in a vesting schedule.
- If the year-to-date earnings are consistent with the previous years’ earnings or trending upward, then use the applicable calculation method(s) below to determine the monthly income.
- If the earnings are not consistent or the value of vested shares distributed decreases substantially from year to year, additional analysis is required and additional documentation may be necessary to determine income stability and develop an accurate calculation of qualifying income.
- Calculation: Based on the form vested RS or RSU is distributed to the borrower – shares or its cash equivalent – use the applicable method(s) below to calculate the monthly income.
 - RS or RSU Distributed as Shares: Multiply the 52-week average stock price as of the loan application date by the total number of vested shares distributed (pre-tax) to the borrower for the past two years then divide by 24.
 - For example: If 200 vested shares were distributed in the past two years and the 52-week average stock price as of the loan application date is $10, multiply 200 x $10 then divide by 24 = $83.33 monthly income.
 - RS or RSU Distributed as Cash Equivalent: Use the total dollar amount distributed from the cash equivalent of vested shares in the past two years divided by 24.

Temporary Leave

Determining Qualifying Income

- Temporary leave from an employer may encompass various circumstances such as family and medical leave, short-term disability, maternity leave, or other temporary leaves with or without pay.
- Temporary leave is generally short in duration. The period of time that a borrower is on temporary leave may be determined by various factors such as applicable law, employer policies and short-term insurance policy and/or benefit terms.
- During a temporary leave a borrower’s income may be reduced and/or completely interrupted. Determine that during and after the temporary leave the borrower has the capacity to repay the mortgage and all other monthly obligations.
- For borrowers returning to their current employer prior to the first mortgage payment due date, use the borrower’s pre-leave gross monthly income for qualifying income.
- For borrowers returning to their current employer after the first mortgage payment due date, use the borrower’s gross monthly income amount being received for the duration of the temporary leave for qualifying income.
- In the event the income has been reduced or interrupted, use the monthly reduced income amount being received for the duration of the leave combined with the borrower’s available liquid assets as necessary.
 - Available liquid assets may be used as a partial or complete income supplement up to the amount of the income reduction. Assets that are required for the transaction such as down payment, closing costs and reserves may not be considered as available assets.
- The total monthly income must not exceed the borrower’s pre-leave gross monthly income amount.

Temporary Leave Documentation Requirements

- The following documentation is required for all borrowers on temporary leave:
 - Documentation to verify the borrower's pre-leave income and employment.
 - A written statement from the borrower confirming the borrower's intent to return to the current employer and the intended date of return.
 - Documentation generated by the current employer confirming the borrower's eligibility to return to the current employer after the temporary leave. Acceptable forms of employer documentation include:
 - An employer approved leave request;
 - A Family Medical Leave Act document; or
 - Other documentation generated by the employer or a third-party verifier on behalf of the employer.
- In addition, the following documentation is required for borrowers returning to the current employer after the first mortgage payment due date:
 - Documentation evidencing the amount and duration of all temporary leave income sources being used to qualify the borrower such as short-term disability benefits or insurance, sick leave benefits, temporarily reduced income from the employer, that are being received during the temporary leave.
 - All available liquid assets used to supplement the reduced income for the duration of the temporary leave must meet the requirements and be verified in accordance with the Streamlined Accept Documentation or Standard Documentation requirements, as applicable.
 - A written rationale explaining the analysis used to determine the qualifying income.

Self-Employed Borrowers

Stable Monthly Income Requirements

- A borrower who has an ownership interest of 25% or more in a business is considered to be self-employed. The business may be a Sole Proprietorship, a Partnership (General or Limited), an S Corporation or a Corporation.
- The business structure determines the reporting method of the business and self-employment income to the Internal Revenue Service (IRS). The federal income tax returns for the business usually document the percentage of interest in the business.

Partnerships/S Corporations/Corporations

- The ownership interest percentage must be verified by a review of the federal income tax returns for the business including the IRS Schedule K1(s) or IRS Form 1125-E, Compensation of Officers.
- If these documents do not provide this information, the ownership interest percentage must be verified with a letter from the business' accountant or other similar documents.

Sole Proprietorship

- Sole proprietorships are unincorporated businesses.
- A sole proprietor owns 100% of the business and reports the income and expenses from that business on Schedule C of the federal individual income tax return.
- There is no associated federal business tax return.

Self-Employment History

- In certain instances a borrower may not have a current two year history of self-employment.
- When the borrower has been self-employed for less than two years, prior to considering the income for qualifying purposes:
 - Document that the borrower has a two year history of receipt of income at the same or a greater level in the same or a similar occupation;
 - Consider and evaluate the borrower's experience in the business; and

- Consider and evaluate the acceptance of the company's service or products in the marketplace.
- Analysis of current business activity through a review of the year-to-date financial statements and/or the most recent three months of business bank statements may provide support for this evaluation.
- The borrower's federal income tax returns must reflect at least 12 months of self-employment income.
- If the borrower is relocating to a different geographic area, prior to considering the income for qualifying purposes:
 - Consider and evaluate the acceptance of the company's service or products in the marketplace. Additional information, such as market studies or relevant industry research may support this evaluation; and
 - Provide a written analysis justifying the conclusion that the borrower's income will continue at the same level in the new location.

Business and Income Analysis

- The analysis of the business must support that the business has sufficient liquidity and is financially capable of producing stable monthly income for the borrower.
- The analysis must include an analysis of gross receipts of sales, cost of goods sold and gross profits. All should be typical for the type of business and reflect consistent year-over-year trends. The business expenses should be reasonable for the type of business activity and level of business income. Business tenure should be considered.
- A review and analysis of the business' financial statements, business asset statements, and in the case of Partnerships and S Corporations, an analysis of the historical cash distributions is necessary to establish the financial and liquidity standing of the business.
- Calculate and consider the liquidity ratios of the business.
 - The Quick Ratio (also known as the Acid Test Ratio) is appropriate for businesses that rely heavily on inventory to generate income. This test excludes inventory from current assets in calculating the proportion of current assets available to meet current liabilities:

Quick Ratio = (current assets – inventory) divided by current liabilities

- The Current Ratio (also known as the Working Capital Ratio) may be more appropriate for businesses not relying on inventory to generate income:

Current Ratio = current assets divided by current liabilities

- For sole proprietorships, stable monthly income must be based on the income reported on Schedule C of the borrower's federal individual income tax returns.
- For Partnerships and S Corporations, stable monthly income may be based on the borrower's proportionate share of such ordinary income or guaranteed payments, carried from Form 1065 or Form 1120s through the Schedule K1 and onto the borrower's federal individual income tax returns.
 - Although cash distributions reported on the Schedule K1 may not be used as qualifying income, they may be used to establish business liquidity and access to business funds, provided they are reasonably consistent with the ordinary income.
- For S Corporations and Corporations, stable monthly income may be based on the income reported on the borrower's W2 from the business.
 - The corporate tax returns and Form 1125-E, if applicable, must be reviewed for confirmation of the borrower's W2 income from the business.
- Business income reported on the business tax returns but not on the personal tax returns may be considered as stable monthly income provided the underwriter's analysis confirms that based on the financial strength of the business, the use of these funds as personal income would not have a detrimental impact on the business.

- If business income not reported on the borrower's federal individual income tax returns is being used to qualify, verify that the borrower's legal right to the business income is not encumbered, restricted or prevented by obtaining a copy of the corporate resolution, partnership agreement or other comparable document.

Income Calculation

- The calculation of a self-employed borrower's average monthly income must be based on a review of the borrower's complete federal income tax return(s) (Form 1040) including W2s and K1(s) as applicable, and the borrower's complete federal income tax returns for the business (Form 1120, Form 1120s, and/or Form 1065) when applicable.
- Analyze the tax returns and document the calculation of the borrower's self-employed income on Form 91, Income Calculations or a similar alternative form.
- As part of the analysis, when documentation covering a history greater than one year is obtained, consider whether the borrower's self-employed income has increased or decreased over the previous two years.
- If the analysis reflects that the borrower's income has significantly increased or decreased, obtain sufficient documentation and justification to support the determination that the income used to qualify the borrower is stable and likely to continue for the next three years.
- It may be necessary to obtain additional years' tax returns when the borrower's self-employment income fluctuates in order to determine the stability of the income.
- Business financial statements typically consist of a Profit and Loss Statement and a Balance Sheet for the business that cover a specified period of time such as year-to-date or annual. Financial statements may not be used for the calculation of stable monthly income unless they are audited however they may provide additional support for the business analysis and income conclusion.
 - Financial statements for the business may be used to assist in evaluation and determining various components of self-employment analysis including business liquidity, income stability when tax returns are on extension, and evaluating a newer business and the impact of business fund withdrawals.
- The following list includes common examples of items that may be considered for inclusion in income when performing the self-employed calculations on Form 91 or a similar alternative form:
 - Non-cash deductions such as depreciation, depletion and amortization;
 - Documented non-recurring losses such as casualty losses and carry-overs from previous tax years;
 - For mortgages and notes payable in less than one year, analyze the terms of the mortgages and notes payable in less than one year. Determine whether the income should be reduced by this debt. The analysis must include factors such as whether the business has sufficient liquidity to pay off the debt without a negative impact to the business, if the debt is the type that would continually roll over, and/or if the debt is a line of credit that is consistently renewable. If these factors are present, the income does not need to be reduced by the debt.
- All rental real estate income and expenses reported on IRS Form 8825 for Partnerships and S Corporations are to be treated as self-employed income regardless of whether or not the borrower is personally obligated on the Note and regardless of the borrower's percentage of ownership interest in the Partnership or S Corporation.

Self-Employed Income not Used for Qualification

- If the borrower is self-employed and the self-employment is not considered for qualification purposes, obtain pages one and two of the borrower's federal individual income tax returns and the applicable schedules (Schedule C or Schedule E) to determine if there is a business loss that may have an impact on the borrower's stable monthly income.
 - If a business loss is reported and the borrower qualifies with the loss, there is no requirement to obtain any additional documentation relating to the business loss.
 - If a business loss is reported and the borrower does not qualify with the loss, obtain additional documentation as needed in order to fully evaluate the loss. Perform a business and income analysis to determine whether depreciation adjustments or other factors such as business closure or evidence of a one-time non-recurring event justify a reduction of the reported loss.

Business Assets Used for Closing

- Withdrawals of assets from the business may have a negative impact on the ability of the business to continue operating.
- When business assets are being used for the down payment, closing costs, and/or reserves, determine that the withdrawal of the funds will not have a detrimental effect on the business.
- Review and analyze the business tax returns, the current financial statements and the last three months of the business bank statements to confirm the deposits, withdrawals and balances are supportive of a viable business and are aligned with the level and type of income and expenses reported on the business tax returns.

Provide a written analysis describing the factors contributing to the determination that the withdrawal of the business funds will not negatively impact the business operations.

- The following chart contains requirements and guidance pertaining to verification of the current existence of the business:

 - Federal income tax returns, as required in the chart below, including all applicable schedules and forms reflecting at least 12 months of self-employed income.
 - Verification of how long the business has been in existence:

 - The length of time the payments have been received;

- Evidence of the income source, type, distribution frequency, distribution amount(s), current receipt, as applicable and history of receipt as applicable must be documented.
- If distributions are being taken in accordance with IRS rules such as the Required Minimum Distribution rule where an excise tax penalty applies if distributions are not taken, and evidence of current receipt of the required minimum distribution amount is obtained, a history of receipt is not required for the income to be considered stable.
- Due to multiple variables inherent with distributions from retirement accounts including fixed and fluctuating income amounts, the history of receipt necessary to justify a stable monthly income amount may vary.

Mortgage Professional Use ONLY. Not for Consumer distribution. Guideline subject to change without notice. Items not covered will default to appropriate agency guidelines subject to Credit Risk Review.

- This may include a range of history from 1 to 24 months depending upon the individual circumstances. As with all income determine that the source and amount of the income are stable.
 - Factors that must be considered when determining that the income is stable, and when determining the history of receipt necessary to justify a stable monthly income include:
 - The frequency and regularity of receipt of the distributions; and
 - The length of time the distributions have been taken and whether or not they establish a stable pattern of receipt over a given period of time.
 - Consider whether or not the distributions are fixed amounts occurring with regular frequency or are fluctuating amounts occurring with or without regular frequency.
 - For fixed amounts occurring with regular frequency, a lesser history of receipt may be needed in order to determine the amount and stability of the income than would be needed for fluctuating amounts.
 - For fluctuating amounts it may be necessary to obtain a longer history of receipt in order to determine the amount and stability of the qualifying income while taking into consideration whether or not the overall payments are similar when viewed year-over-year or with another similar measure such as quarter-over-quarter.
- Document that sufficient assets remain in the retirement account(s) after closing to support continuance of the retirement account distributions as income for at least the next three years. Obtain the following:
 - A copy of the most recent retirement account statement(s), documentation from a financial institution holding the retirement account that verifies regularly scheduled distribution arrangements, 1099(s), and/or other equivalent documentation showing the income source, type, distribution frequency, distribution amounts and the history of receipt as applicable; and
 - A copy of bank statements or other equivalent documentation evidencing current receipt as applicable; and
 - Evidence of sufficient assets to support the qualifying income
- If the retirement distributions are not scheduled payments, document the most recent distribution verified through a copy of the retirement account statement, 1099, or other equivalent documentation, as applicable, in lieu of current receipt.
 - Verification of receipt of multiple distributions may be necessary to determine frequency of distribution, a history of receipt and the amount of stable monthly qualifying income.

Rental Income (Prior to 11/1/2018)

General Requirements

- Rental income may be used to qualify the borrower provided the requirements of this section are met.
- Rental income may be generated from:
 - A subject one-unit primary residence;
 - A subject two-to-four unit primary residence;
 - A subject one-to-four unit investment property; and
 - Investment property owned by the borrower other than the subject property.
- Whenever rental income is to be used, reasonable adjustments to gross rental income must be made to compensate for vacancies, operating and maintenance expenses and rental income received for furniture.
- If the borrower owned a rental property during the previous tax year, the borrower's federal individual tax returns must be obtained to determine the net rental income or loss for qualifying.
- In some instances, the income reported on the borrower's federal individual income tax returns may not reflect the property's current rental value, such as when the tax returns show large a one-time expense or the when the property was under renovation.
 - In these instances, federal individual income tax returns must be obtained; however, Form 998, Operating Income Statement, may be used to determine rental income.
 - Explain on the 1008 the reasons for not using the income or loss from the federal individual income tax returns to determine rental income.

Topic	Eligibility and Documentation Requirements
Rental Income from the Subject One-Unit Primary Residence	Rental income generated from a borrower's one-unit primary residence may be used to qualify a borrower with a disability if the rental income is from a live-in aide. Typically a live-in aide will receive room and board payments through Medicaid waiver funds from which rental payments are made to the borrower. This income source may be considered stable monthly income if: <ul style="list-style-type: none"> • The borrower has received rental payments from a live-in aide for the past 12 months on a regular basis; and • The live-in aide plans to continue to reside with the borrower for the foreseeable future. The rental income may be considered in an amount up to 30% of the total gross income that is used to qualify the borrower for the mortgage. Rental income generated from the borrower's second home or one-unit primary residence other than as provided for above is not considered stable monthly income and may not be used to qualify the borrower.
Rental Income from the Subject Two-to-Four Unit Primary Residence	Rental income from units in the borrower's two-to-four unit primary residence that are not occupied by the borrower may be used to qualify the borrower. If rental income from the subject two-to-four primary residence is being used to qualify the borrower, the following requirements apply: <ul style="list-style-type: none"> • Obtain and use Form 998, Operating Income Statement unless the property has been owned for at least one year and is reported on Schedule E of the borrower's prior year federal individual income tax return. If income from the subject property is reported on the borrower's federal individual income tax returns, Schedule E must be used to determine the

Regardless of whether rental income is used in qualifying the borrower, the ULDD Data Point Property Dwelling Unit Eligible Rent Amount for each non-owner occupied unit in a two-to-four unit primary residence must be delivered. Monthly operating income from the Form 998 or net rental income from Schedule E is entered under “Gross Monthly Income” in Section V of the loan application and may be considered as stable monthly income in qualifying the borrower provided the borrower meets the reserve requirements. If monthly operating income or net rental income from Schedule E is a negative number, it must be included as a liability for qualification purposes.
Rental Income from the Subject One-to-Four Unit Investment Property	If the borrower qualifies with the full monthly payment amount plus operating expenses for the subject investment property included in the borrower’s monthly debt-to-income ratio, no further evaluation or calculation of rental income from the subject property is required and Form 998 is not required. The loan must be delivered with the ULDD Data Point Property Dwelling Unit Eligible Rent Amount for each one-unit investment property and each unit in a two-to-four unit investment property regardless of whether rental income from the subject investment property is being used to qualify the borrower. If rental income from the subject investment property is to be considered in qualifying the borrower, the following requirements apply: <ul style="list-style-type: none"> Obtain and use Form 998, Operating Income Statement, unless the subject property has been owned for at least one year and is reported on the Schedule E of the borrower’s prior year federal individual income tax return. If Form 998 is used it must be completed up to the Monthly Operating Income reconciliation. The income approach on the appraisal and copies of the present leases, if applicable, must support the rental income used to qualify the borrower. If the net cash flow shown on the Form 998 or net rental income from Schedule E of the borrower’s tax returns is a positive number, that figure may be entered as the rental income in the Gross Monthly Income section of the loan application and may be considered stable monthly income. If the net cash flow shown on the Form 998 or net rental income from Schedule E of the borrower’s tax returns is a negative number, it must be included as a liability for qualification purposes.
Rental Income from Investment Property Owned by the Borrower other than the Subject Property	Rental income from investment properties that are owned by the borrower, other than the subject property, must be shown in the Schedule of Real Estate Owned in Section VI of the loan application. When rental income from other investment properties owned by the borrower in the previous tax year is reported on the borrower’s federal individual income tax returns, Schedule E of the borrower’s tax returns must be used to determine the

Signed leases may be used to determine the net rental income for an investment property not owned during the previous tax year. Additionally, signed leases may be used to substantiate gross rents that are higher than the rental income documented on the tax returns; however, no more than 75% of the gross rental income from the signed leases may be used, unless the prior two years' federal individual income tax returns clearly support the use of a higher percentage. The aggregate net rental loss must be considered a liability for qualification purposes. Aggregate net rental income may be counted as stable monthly income, provided the reliability of receipt is clearly supported by the documentation in the file.

Rental Income (Effective 11/1/2018)

General Requirements

- Stable monthly rental income must be generated from acceptable and verifiable sources and must be reasonably expected to continue for at least the next three years.
- For each income source used to qualify the borrower, determine that both the source and the amount of the income are stable.
- Rental income generated from the following property and occupancy types may be considered when determining the stable monthly income:
 - One-unit primary residence (rental income is eligible from a live-in aide);
 - Subject two-to-four unit primary residence (rental income is eligible from the units that are not occupied by the borrower);
 - Subject one-to-four investment property; and
 - Non-subject investment property owned by the borrower;
 - Subject one-unit investment property; or
 - Non-subject investment property.
 - Accessory Units: When determining stable monthly income, rental income generated from an accessory unit may be considered for:
 - Subject one-unit investment property; or
 - Non-subject investment property.
 - The rental income requirements in this chapter must be met.
- Rental income generated from the borrower's second home may not be used as monthly income.

Rental Income Analysis and Calculation

- The following chart contains requirements related to rental income from a borrower's one-unit primary Residence:

One-Unit Primary Residence Rental Income Eligibility Requirements
Eligibility	Rental income generated from the borrower's one-unit primary residence, including rental income from an accessory unit, may be used to qualify a borrower with a disability provided the rental income is from a live-in aide. A live-in aide will receive room and board payments through Medicaid waiver funds from which rental payments are made to the borrower.
Documentation	Evidence that the borrower has received stable rental income from a live-in aide for the most recent 12 months.
Qualification	The rental income may be considered in an amount up to 30% of the total stable monthly income that is used to qualify the borrower for the loan.

- Refer to the Home Possible section of these guidelines for use of rental income generated from the borrower’s one-unit primary residence securing a Home Possible loan.
- The following charts contain requirements and guidance for documentation, history and analysis of rental income:

Subject	Subject Property Purchase Transaction	Subject Property Refinance Transaction or Non-Subject Investment Property <ul style="list-style-type: none"> • Property purchased in the current calendar year; or • Property placed in service for use as a rental property in the current calendar year.
Documentation and Analysis Streamlined Accept and Standard Documentation	A lease, if available, must be used to determine the net rental income. Make reasonable efforts to determine lease availability including a review of the appraisal, comparable rent data, purchase contract, a discussion with the borrower and/or any other applicable reasonable method; or If a lease is not available, Form 72 or Form 1000, as applicable may be used to determine the net rental income <ul style="list-style-type: none"> • Rental income may not be used to qualify if there is knowledge, information or documentation that indicates that the borrower does not intend to use a lease with a minimum term of one year for the rental income source. 	A lease must be used to determine the net rental income. Purchase date or conversion date, as applicable must be documented.
Lease Requirements	Leases must be current and fully executed with a minimum original term of one year. If the lease is documented as assigned from the property seller to the borrower and is in the automatically renewable month-to-month phase of an original one year (or longer) term lease, a month-to-month term is acceptable.
Investment Property Management Experience	The borrower must have a minimum one year history of investment property management experience occurring within the most recent 36 months. The management experience must be documented with at least the most recent year of complete federal income tax returns for which the investment property was in service; or The net rental income may only be considered in an amount up to 30% of the sum of the net rental income and all other stable monthly income such as employment earnings that is used to qualify the borrower for the loans. If there are multiple properties that are subject to the 30% requirement, such as a subject property purchase transaction and a non-subject investment property purchased in the current calendar year, the 30% requirement applies to the combined total of net rental income.

Examples: Calculations of the maximum amount of net rental income that is eligible to be included in the stable monthly income
Employment Earnings	Net Rental Income	Sum of Net Rental Income Plus Employment Earnings	Calculation	Eligible Net Rental Income
$5,000	$1,500	$6,400	$$6,500 \times 30\% = $1,950$	$1,500
$2,500	$2,625	$5,125	$$5,125 \times 30\% = $1,537.50$	$1,537.50

- Review the following documentation options and determine which is the most appropriate to establish and support stable monthly net rental income based on the individual transaction:

Option 1: One Year Tax Return and Current Lease
Subject	<ul style="list-style-type: none"> Subject property refinance transaction owned in the prior calendar year(s) Non-subject investment property owned in the prior calendar year(s)
Option 1 is for long-term rental income sources (lease with at least a one year term). It requires a current lease which lends support to income stability and continuance so a shorter documented history (one year tax return) is acceptable.
Documentation	Complete federal individual income tax return including Schedule E for the most recent year; and
Streamlined Accept and Standard Documentation Levels	Current, fully executed lease with an original minimum term of at least one year. If the lease is in the automatically renewable month-to-month phase of an original one-year (or longer) term lease, a month-to-month term is acceptable The rental income may be determined to be stable without obtaining the current lease if: <ul style="list-style-type: none"> The fair rental days reported on Schedule E for the most recent year document s rental income consistent with a long-term lease (365 days); The tax returns are no more than six months old based on the ending date of the last tax year; and No information is present that would contradict a reasonable expectation of income stability, continuance or current receipt of rental income from a lease.
Sufficient Historical Data on Schedule E	If it is determined that the information on Schedule E contains sufficient historical data to analyze and determine stable net rental income and expenses, the Schedule E must be used to calculate the net rental income. A 12 months history of income and expenses reported on Schedule E is generally required to establish a stable net rental income amount.

Insufficient Historical Data on Schedule E	If it is determined that the information reported on Schedule E does not contain sufficient historical data to analyze and determine the rental income and expenses, the underwriter may determine that the use of a lease is more appropriate to establish the income amount. For example, the underwriter may determine that there is insufficient historical information on Schedule E when: <ul style="list-style-type: none"> • The rental property is documented as purchased later in the prior calendar year; • A documented catastrophic event or major renovation occurred causing the property to be out of service for a portion of the year; and • The source of rental income changed from a source without a lease (short-term rental income) to a one year term lease during the calendar year. When the lease is used to determine net rental income: <ul style="list-style-type: none"> • The gross monthly rent amount on the lease must be consistent with the gross rents received on Schedule E based on the annualized amount of fair rental days reported on Schedule E. • The underwriter must provide a written analysis and supporting documentation, if applicable, justifying the use of the lease to determine the net rental income.
Analysis	When evaluating stability of net rental income, the underwriter must analyze: <ul style="list-style-type: none"> • The length of historical data for the rental income source and amount, expenses, and • Whether the gross rents on the lease, if present, are consistent with the rents received on Schedule E.

Option 2: Two Year's Tax Returns
Subject	<ul style="list-style-type: none"> • Subject property refinance transaction owned in the prior calendar year(s) • Non-subject investment property owned in the prior calendar year(s)
Option 2 is for short-term rental income sources such as rental income from a source where a lease is not used, or has a lease with less than a one year term. Short-term rental income sources may be more volatile than long-term rental income sources so a longer documented history (two year's tax returns) is required to support income stability and continuance.
Documentation Streamlined Accept and Standard Documentation Levels	Complete federal individual income tax returns including Schedule E for the most recent two years. If the tax returns are more than six months old based on the ending date of the last tax year: <ul style="list-style-type: none"> • A current year-to-date gross rental income statement from an independent third party (a company that collects rents and disburses same to the borrower), and year-end statement or IRS Form 1099-K, Payment Card and Third Party Network Transaction, if applicable, that supports the gross rental income and source reported on the tax returns is required; or • If a gross rental income statement is not provided to the borrower, other equivalent supporting documentation must be obtained to justify the stability of the rental income Rental income reported on Schedule C: If short-term rental income is reported on Schedule C instead of Schedule E due to tax interpretations, the underwriter may determine the rental income is stable as long as all of the requirements in this chapter are met.

Length of History Requirement	A 24 month history of income and expenses reported on Schedule E is required to establish a stable net rental income amount. The same short-term source must have been producing the rental income and the property must have been used for the purposes of producing rental income for this period of time. <ul style="list-style-type: none"> • IRS Form 4562, Depreciation and Amortization, is an example of documentation that may be used to determine the date the property was placed in service for use as a rental property for purposes of producing rental income.
Less than a 24 Month History Reported on the Tax Returns	In certain instances the underwriter may determine that less than a 24 month history of rental income and expenses from the same source reported on the Schedule E is sufficient to determine a stable net rental income amount. The history reported on Schedule E for the most recent year must not be less than 12 months. The overall documented history of income and expenses, and length of time the property has been used for the purposes of producing rental income must not be less than 18 months. The underwriter must provide a written analysis and supporting documentation justifying a history of less than 24 months reported on the Schedule E. The following examples represent situations that may support less than a 24 month history of income and expenses reported on the Schedule E: <ul style="list-style-type: none"> • The borrower purchased and placed the rental property in service 20 months ago. The tax returns only reflect a 12 month history of income and expenses from the same source. The borrower receives a year-to-date gross rental income statement from an independent third party (a company that collects rents and disburses same to borrower) that supports the gross rental income and source reported on the tax returns and an overall 18 months history of income stability. • Documentation evidences: (a) a tax return extension has been filed for the most recent calendar year but the tax returns from prior years evidence a 15 month history of rental income and expenses from the same source, and (b) IRS Form 1099-K, Payment Card and Third Party Network Transactions, for the most recent calendar year and the year-to-date gross rental income statement, as described above, support the gross rental income and source reported on the tax returns, supporting continued income stability from the same source.
Analysis	When evaluating stability of rental income, the underwriter must analyze the length of historical data for the rental income source, amount and expenses. The analysis must include factors such as the potential for fluctuation and associated degree of volatility and/or irregularity within the rental income amount and source, and validation that the income is consistently derived from the same type of source which includes a review of the fair rental days reported on Schedule E year-over-year. For example: <ul style="list-style-type: none"> • If the year-over-year review of the fair rental days reported on Schedule E shows a decrease from 350 (which may be indicative of a lease) to 150 days (potentially indicative of short-term rental income) further analysis would be required to (a) validate that the income is consistently derived from the same type of source and (b) support the stability of the rental income source.

	If a significant degree of volatility or irregularity is present (year-over-year) additional analysis is required and additional documentation may be necessary to determine income stability.

- Assets that will be used by the borrower for the repayment of their monthly obligations may be used to qualify the borrower provided that the requirements of this section are met.
- The loan application should include information pertaining to the borrower's employment and income even if the borrower qualifies for the loan solely based on assets.
- Assets may only be used to qualify the borrower if the loan meets all of the following requirements:
 - The mortgage is secured by a one-unit or a two-unit primary residence or second home;
 - The mortgage is either a purchase transaction, no cash-out refinance or an Open Access transaction; and
 - The mortgage has a maximum LTV/TLTV/HTLTV ratio of 80%.
- To determine the amount used to establish the debt-to-income ratio use the net eligible assets, as described below, divided by 360 months regardless of the loan term.
- The amount of net eligible assets is calculated by subtracting the following from the total eligible assets:
 - Any funds required to be paid by the borrower to complete the transaction such as down payment and closing costs;
 - Any gift funds and borrowed funds; and
 - Any portion of assets pledged as collateral for a loan or otherwise encumbered.

Assets

Asset Eligibility and Documentation Requirements

Funds Required for the Mortgage Transaction

- Verify that the borrower has sufficient funds to qualify for the mortgage transaction, down payment, closing costs, and reserves.
- All funds used to qualify the borrower for the loan and for reserves must come from the eligible sources described below.

Reserves

- Reserves are the borrower’s assets remaining after loan closing.
- The source of funds used for reserves, when needed to qualify the borrower for the loan, must meet the eligibility and documentation requirements below.
- Reserves are measured by the number of months of the monthly payment amount for the property (PITIA).
- When calculating reserves for the subject property, the principal and interest payment of the monthly payment amount must be based, at a minimum, on the Note rate.
- When calculating reserves for other properties, the monthly payment amount for the property must be no less than the current monthly payment amount.
- For Loan Product Advisor mortgages verify all reserves required by LPA as stated on the Feedback Certificate.
- The table below describes the reserve requirements that must be met:

Subject Property	Required Reserves
Primary Residence – One Unit	None
Primary Residence – Two-to-Four Units	Six months for the subject property
Second Home	Two months for the subject property
Investment Property	Six months for the subject property

- Mortgages secured by second homes and investment properties require the following additional reserves:

Subject Property	Additional Required Reserves
Second Home or Investment Property	1-6 financed properties including the subject property and the borrower’s primary residence - 2 months of the monthly payment amount on each additional second home and/or 1-4 unit investment property that is financed on which the borrower is obligated.
	7-10 financed properties including the subject property and the borrower’s primary residence - 2 months of the monthly payment amount on each additional second home and/or 1-4 unit investment property that is financed on which the borrower is obligated.

- The additional required reserves stated in the chart above are included in the amount of reserves required to be verified listed on the LPA Feedback Certificate.

General Documentation Requirements

- Asset account statements used to verify the borrower's accounts held in financial institutions must meet the following requirements:
 - Identify the financial institution;
 - Identify the account owner(s);
 - Identify the account number which at a minimum must include the last four digits;
 - Show all transactions;
 - Show the time period covered;
 - Show the ending balance; and
 - Show any outstanding loans secured by the asset, as applicable.
- A transaction history that is computer generated and downloaded by the borrower from the Internet or by a financial institution representative from the institution's system is acceptable. The transaction history must identify the name of the institution and the source and include the information required for asset account statements unless:
 - It is used in combination with other asset verifications containing the missing information; or
 - It can be established that the transaction history pertains to the same account.

Third-Party Asset Verifications

- Asset verifications obtained through third-party verification service providers are acceptable. The verifications must be received by the originator directly from the third-party verification service provider and must contain the same information as required for asset account statements.
- When the verification is generated electronically and is not completed or provided by a representative of the employer or the depository institution, as applicable, the representative's information is not required.
- If any required information is missing, obtain additional documentation to supplement the third-party verification to ensure the accuracy and integrity of the information provided by the third-party verification service.

Evaluation of Deposits in the Borrower's Accounts

- Except as stated below it is not required to document the sources of unverified deposits for purchase or refinance transactions. When qualifying the borrower consider any liabilities resulting from all borrowed funds.
- For purchase transactions, when evaluating the deposits in the borrower's accounts, the following requirements apply:
 - Document the source of funds for any large deposits as described below if the deposit is needed to qualify the borrower for the loan.
 - A large deposit is any single deposit exceeding 50% of the sum of:
 - The total monthly qualifying income for the loan; and
 - The amount derived from the asset calculation for establishing the debt-to-income ratio.
 - When a single deposit consists of both verified and unverified portions, use just the unverified amount when determining whether the deposit is a large deposit.
 - When a large deposit is not verified and is not needed to qualify the borrower for the loan, reduce the funds used for qualification purposes by the amount of the unverified deposit. Enter the reduced amount into Loan Product Advisor.
 - When the source of funds can be clearly identified from the deposit information on the account statement such as direct payroll deposits, or a tax refund, there is no requirement to obtain additional documentation.

Acceptable Sources of Deposits

- When a deposit requires verification, determine:
 - Whether the source of the deposit is acceptable;
 - That the funds belong to the borrower; and
 - That the funds are eligible for the transaction.
- Acceptable sources of funds include:
 - The borrower's income;
 - Funds awarded to the borrower such as disaster relief funds, lottery winnings, and court-awarded settlements, provided the source is not an interested party to the real estate or mortgage transaction.

Minimum Borrower Contribution

- For a purchase transaction the borrower must make a minimum contribution from the borrower's personal funds when specifically required as summarized in the chart below:

Minimum Contribution from Borrower's Personal Funds
Mortgage Type	Mortgages with LTV/TLTV/HTLTV Ratios < 80%	Mortgages with LTV/TLTV/HTLTV Ratios > 80%
Mortgage Secured by a One-Unit Primary Residence	None
Mortgage Secured by a Two-to-Four Unit Primary Residence	None	N/A
Mortgage Secured by a Second Home	None	5% of value when gift funds or grants are used for the transaction.
Mortgage Secured by an Investment Property	All funds used for the transaction must be borrower personal funds.
Mortgages with Shared Equity Plans	5% of the value (must be owner occupant's personal funds)

Eligible Asset Types for Borrower Personal Funds

- The eligibility and documentation requirements apply to all funds used to qualify the borrower for the transaction including reserves.
- All accounts held in financial institutions must be owned by the borrower and the borrower must have access to the funds. Funds in accounts that are owned jointly by the borrower and a non-borrower are considered borrower personal funds.
- The Loan Product Advisor documentation level shown on the Feedback Certificate indicates the minimum level of documentation acceptable for an LPA loan. Provide the documentation required in this chapter for the documentation level returned by LPA.
- Asset types that are considered borrower personal funds and the application documentation requirements are described in the chart below. Any limitations on the use of an asset type are specified in the chart below.

 - Fund a buy down plan to temporarily subsidize the borrower's monthly payment; and
 - Make contributions in any way related to the borrower's closing costs, including up to 12 months of homeowners' association dues.
- The maximum permitted financing concessions are as follows:

Occupancy	LTV/TLTV Ratios > 90%	LTV/TLTV Ratios >75% and <90%	LTV/TLTV Ratios ≤ 75%
Primary Residence and Second Home	3%	6%	9%
Investment Properties	2%	2%	2%

- The amount of any financing concessions in excess of the limitations set forth above will be considered a sales concession.
- Funds paid by the property seller that are fees or costs customarily paid by the property seller according to local convention are not subject to the maximum financing concession limitations above.

Sales Concessions

- Sales concessions include:
 - Financing concessions in excess of the maximum financing concession limitations listed above.
 - Any contributions such as vacations, furniture, automobiles, securities, or other giveaways granted by any interested party to the transaction.
 - Interested party contributions used to reimburse the borrower for payment of fees charged to process or negotiate a short sale.
- For purposes of determining the value of the subject property the dollar amount of any excess financing concessions, the value of any contributions and/or the dollar amount of any short sale fee reimbursements granted from an interested party to the transaction must be deducted from the purchase price. The LTV ratio is then calculated using the lower of the reduced purchase price, after the reduction for all sales concessions have been made, or the appraised value of the subject property.

Unplanned Buy Downs

- In calculating the total value of financing concessions, do not include amounts paid as “unplanned buy downs”.
- An unplanned buy down is comprised of any funds paid at closing by an interested party to reduce the effective interest rate on the borrower’s loan to a rate closer to or equal to the rate specified in the sales contract.
- Unplanned buy downs arise from an increase in mortgage market interest rates between the date of the sales contract and the Note date.
- Typically unplanned buy downs arise in transactions involving properties that are newly constructed.
 - For example, if prevailing interest rates in the mortgage market rise during construction, the builder may increase the amount of his/her financing concessions using funds from his/her profit margin to maintain the sales contract financing terms.
- In order for a financing concession to be considered an unplanned buy down, the following conditions must be met:
 - The sales price of the property must be fixed in the sales contract and the transaction must be closed at that price.
 - The terms of the financing must be specified in the sales contract. The interest rate must be either specified in the contract or sufficiently identified so as to be fixed in the contract.
 - The amount paid as an unplanned buy down must have been caused by an increase in mortgage market interest rates between the date of the sales contract and the Note date.
- The following items are not unplanned buy downs and must not exceed the allowable financing concession percentages listed above:
 - Costs and charges listed in the sales contract which the seller agreed to pay.
 - Costs and charges resulting from financing terms contained in the sales contract that were more favorable to the borrower than market conditions that existed as of the date of the sales contract.

Special Documentation Requirements

- The amount and the source of all interested party contributions must be documented in the loan file and be clearly shown on the Settlement/Closing Disclosure Statement.
- Mortgages with interested party contributions paid outside of closing and not disclosed on the Settlement/Closing Disclosure Statement are not eligible.

- When the Settlement/Closing Disclosure Statement discloses financing concessions that exceed the limits above and an unplanned buy down was involved, the loan file must contain a written analysis and documentation evidencing that the unplanned buy down met all of the above requirements.
- Ensure that the data submitted to Loan Product Advisor accurately reflects the presence of any financing and sales concessions.

Lender Credit

- Lender credit may be used for the loan transaction provided it meets all of the following requirements:
 - Lender credit may only be used as a credit towards the borrower's closing costs and must not exceed the amount of the borrower's closing costs.
 - Lender credit derived from an increase in the interest rate must not be used as a credit towards funding a temporary subsidy buy down plan on a no cash-out refinance mortgage.

 - The property must be an attached or detached dwelling or a unit in a condominium project or planned unit development (PUD).
 - The HVE point value estimate must have a Forecast Standard Deviation that is no greater than 0.20, corresponding to a Confidence Score of “H” (high) or “M” (medium).
 - As of the Note date the HVE point value estimate may not be more than 120 days old.
 - Lenders are relieved of representations and warranties regarding the value, internal and external condition, and marketability of the subject property provided, as of the Settlement date, the lender is not aware of any circumstances or conditions that would adversely affect the value, condition or marketability of the subject property.

 - Freddie Mac will accept appraisal reports with a Uniform Appraisal Dataset (UAD) condition rating of C5 or C6 and/or a UAD quality rating of Q6 completed on an “as-is” basis. The appraisal does not have to be completed “subject to” needed repairs being completed.
 - Lenders are not responsible for the completeness and accuracy of the appraiser’s description of the subject property and the accuracy of and support for the appraiser’s opinion of market value.
 - A new appraisal is not required to be obtained if the Settlement date is more than 120 days after the Note date.

Properties Affected by Disasters

- Lenders are not required to obtain a property inspection or new appraisal when a property valuation, either an HVE point value estimate or an appraisal, was relied on prior to a disaster, provided the mortgage meets all hazard/flood insurance requirements; and
- The HVE point value estimate with a high or medium confidence score can be used after a disaster without obtaining a property inspection or appraisal to determine property condition provided that the mortgage meets all hazard/flood insurance requirements..

Mortgage Insurance

- For each Open Access transaction with an LTV ratio greater than 80%:
 - If the mortgage being refinanced has mortgage insurance coverage, then the same percentage of mortgage insurance coverage must be maintained for the new refinance mortgage on the entire unpaid principal balance.
 - If the mortgage being refinanced does not have mortgage insurance coverage then no mortgage insurance coverage is required for the new refinance mortgage.
- Any requirements established by the applicable mortgage insurance company needed to transfer and/or maintain the existing mortgage insurance coverage may be complied with.

Incentives and Contributions

- The appraiser must be provided with the complete contract for sale for the subject property at the time the appraisal is requested. The appraiser must have the necessary and appropriate data sources for the area where the subject property is located.

Mortgage Professional Use ONLY. Not for Consumer distribution. Guideline subject to change without notice. Items not covered will default to appropriate agency guidelines subject to Credit Risk Review.

- The “Contract” section of the appraisal report must include the results of the appraiser’s analysis of the contract for sale, the contract price, the date of the contract, acknowledge if the property seller is the owner of public record, and the data sources used.
- The appraisal report must also include the total dollar amount and description of any financial assistance such as loan charges, sales concessions, gift or down payment assistance, etc. to be paid by any party of behalf of the borrower.
- For appraisal reports that are required to be completed using the UAD, the “Contract” section of the appraisal report must also indicate the type of sale for the transaction. Valid UAD sale types include REO sales, short sales, court ordered sales, estate sales, relocation sales, non-arms-length sales, and arms-length sales.

Neighborhood Section

- The “Neighborhood” section of the appraisal report requires the appraiser to:
 - Identify the neighborhood boundaries;
 - Describe the neighborhood characteristics as either “urban”, “suburban” or “rural”;
 - Describe the percent built-up as either “over 75%”, “25-75%” or “under 25%”;
 - Describe the growth rate as either “rapid”, “stable”, or “slow”; and
 - To report the market conditions, housing trends, price and age ranges and present land uses for the properties in the neighborhood.
- Mortgages secured by residential properties in urban, suburban, and rural market areas are eligible as long as the subject property is adequate collateral for the transaction based on the value, condition and marketability of the property.
- Neighborhood or market area characteristics and market conditions vary based on property location. Characteristics that are typical in certain locations may not exist in other locations so they must be viewed in the context of the location of the property.
 - For example: Urban locations often consist of a variety of different property types that have different uses. It is not unusual to find properties with mixed uses such as residential properties with a secondary business or commercial use in urban neighborhoods. Additionally rural locations may have agricultural zoning and/or consist of a variety of different property types and land uses such as large sites with outbuildings, farms, ranches and undeveloped land.
- The existence of non-residential property types or land uses such as agricultural properties, undeveloped land and land development properties within the neighborhood or market area is a characteristic that the appraiser considers when performing the neighborhood or market area analysis. These non-residential properties or land uses in the neighborhood or market area do not necessarily make the residential properties in these locations ineligible.
 - For example: A property located in a rural area where agricultural activities are prevalent may be eligible if it is determined the subject property is residential based on the subject property’s characteristics and land use.
- Outbuildings on a property such as barns or stables must be considered in the underwriting process to determine whether the property is primarily residential or non-residential. A property with a small barn or stable may be acceptable if the contributory value of the outbuilding is minimal in relation to the total appraised value of the subject property. The appraiser must demonstrate in the appraisal, through the use of comparable sales, pending sales or listings, that these characteristics are typical for residential properties in the market area.
- When a property has a large outbuilding such as a large barn, silo, multiple outbuildings, or facilities for farm type animals, it may indicate that the property is agricultural or non-residential regardless of whether the appraiser assigns value to these improvements and is ineligible as collateral for the transaction.
- Properties in rural locations often have relatively large sites as compared to other locations. In addition there may be a lack of comparable sales due to the relatively low number of recent sales transactions in the market area. In such cases appraisers may have to use comparable sales that are not very similar to the subject property. This is acceptable as long as the appraiser can justify and support the use of the comparable sales and analysis in the appraisal report.

- For example: If the subject property is a ranch style home on a large parcel of land with 44 acres, the most relevant comparable sales may be two story homes located on smaller parcels of 6-12 acres that are located some distance from the subject property such as 8-18 miles away. If an appraiser uses comparable sales such as the ones in this example, he/she must provide a reasonable justification for the use and make appropriate adjustments to account for the differences between the properties and/or location.

Site Section

- The “Site” section of the appraisal report must accurately describe the physical characteristics of the site, site improvements, site view and available utilities and must fully analyze any locational factors affecting the site.

Zoning

- The appraisal report must accurately state:
 - The zoning classification;
 - A description of the zoning classification; and
 - Whether the land use of the subject property represents a legal, non-conforming (grandfathered use), illegal use, or if there is no zoning.
- Eligible Zoning Classifications: The subject property’s zoning classification is an important characteristic to consider when determining whether the loan is eligible.
 - For example: If a property is zoned for agricultural use, ensure that the property is residential in nature, its residential use is permissible use under the zoning classification and its use does not primarily involve commercial activities such as farming or ranching.
- Eligible Zoning Compliance: The subject property must conform to the jurisdiction’s zoning and land use requirements. The zoning compliance must be either legal non-conforming or legal conforming. If a property has an accessory unit that does not comply with the jurisdiction’s zoning and land use requirements, the subject property may be eligible if it complies with the Accessory Units requirements listed below.
- Subject properties that are located in jurisdictions with no zoning are acceptable.
- A legal non-conforming use is acceptable only if the jurisdiction where the subject property is located allows the rebuilding of the improvements to their current specifications in the event of partial or full destruction.
 - For subject properties with a land use that is legal non-conforming the appraisal report must reflect any adverse effect the non-conforming use has on the opinion of market value.
- A property is ineligible if the mortgage is secured by property that is subject to coastal tideland, wetland or setback laws and/or regulations that prevent the rebuilding or maintenance of the property improvements if they are damaged or destroyed.
- Highest and Best Use: For the loan to be eligible the appraiser must report that the subject property’s present use represents the highest and best use of the property as improved or as proposed per plans and specifications.
- Utilities: The utilities serving the subject property must meet community standards. The comparable sales should have utilities that are similar to the subject property.
- Streets: The subject property must have legally appropriate ingress and egress. The streets serving the subject property must be maintained in a manner that generally meets community standards. The comparable sales should have street maintenance similar to the subject property.
- Site Size: The appraiser must appraise the entire site. The comparable sales should have similar site sizes. When differences in site size exist between the subject property and the comparable sales, any adjustments or lack of adjustments made to the comparable sales for significant differences must be explained in the comments area or on an attached addendum. The appraiser must evaluate the effect these differences have on the subject property’s value or marketability.
- Additional Parcels: The subject property may consist of more than one adjoining parcel of real estate, but cannot include an adjoining parcel that contains an additional residence. When the subject property includes two or more adjoining parcels of real estate, the site description must accurately describe the land and any improvements included on each of the parcels. The comparable sales should have adjoining parcels similar to the subject property.

- Flood Hazard Area: If the property is in a “Special Flood Hazard Area” (SFHA) as identified by the Federal Emergency Management Agency (FEMA) through the National Flood Insurance Program (NFIP), the appraiser must comment on and consider any impacts this has on the subject property’s market value or marketability.

Contaminated Sites, Hazardous Substances and Other Adverse Conditions

- The appraiser must consider any known contaminated sites or hazardous substances and other adverse conditions that affect the property or the neighborhood where the property is located. The appraiser must also report the presence of contaminated sites or hazardous substances and other adverse conditions and make appropriate adjustments to reflect any impact on market value, and comment on any effect on the marketability of the subject property. Examples of matters about which the appraiser must note and comment include:
 - Any presence of asbestos, urea-formaldehyde or any similar insulation in the dwelling;
 - Proximity of the property and/or its neighborhood to a contaminated site;
 - Proximity of the property to ground water contamination, chemical or petroleum spills or other hazardous substances that are expected to impact the area for more than one year; and
 - Proximity of the property to areas that may affect the value or marketability of the property including the following:
 - Industrial sites;
 - Waste or water treatment facilities;
 - Commercial establishments (other than retail establishments that serve the residential neighborhood);
 - Airport approach paths;
 - Floodplains; and
 - Landslide areas.

Improvements Section

- The appraisal report must contain an accurate description of the improvements and any factors that may affect the market value or marketability of the subject property. The appraiser is responsible for reporting the condition and quality that best describes the overall condition and quality of the subject property and each comparable property. For appraisal reports that are required to be completed using the Uniform Appraisal Dataset (UAD), the appraiser must use the condition and quality ratings and the level of updating definitions identified in Exhibit 1.
- The condition and quality ratings must be based on a holistic view of the property and any improvements. When selecting the condition and quality ratings the appraiser must:
 - Consider all improvements to determine an overall condition and quality rating. The appraiser should then select the rating that best reflects the property in its entirety.
 - Describe the subject property as of the effective date of the appraisal on an absolute basis, meaning the property must be rated on its own merits. The rating should not be selected on a relative basis, meaning it is not selected on how the property relates or compares to other properties in the neighborhood. The condition and quality ratings for comparable properties must also be made on an absolute basis and reflect the property as of the date of the sale of the comparable property.
- The appraisal report must contain additional commentary, descriptions and explanations as required to enable the intended users of the appraisal to understand the property condition and quality.
- A subject property with an overall quality rating of Q6 is not acceptable collateral unless all issues that caused the property to be rated Q6 are cured prior to closing. In such cases the appraisal must be completed subject to the hypothetical condition that the repairs or alterations have been completed and the appraiser must report the quality rating for the property based on the as completed condition. Items that may be required to be cured include:

- Modifying the property to make it habitable as a year-round residence;
- Upgrading the electrical, plumbing, and other mechanical systems and equipment to meet community standards;
- Correcting any substantial or non-conforming additions to the original structure; and
- Curing any other quality related items needed to make the subject property acceptable to typical purchasers in the market where the property is located.
- A subject property with an overall condition rating of C5 or C6 is not acceptable collateral unless all issues that caused the property to be rated C5 or C6 are cured prior to closing. In such cases the appraisal must be completed subject to the hypothetical condition that the repairs or alterations have been completed and the appraiser must report the condition rating for the property based on the as completed condition.
- If the property has deficiencies or defects that are severe enough to affect the safety, soundness or structural integrity of the improvements, then the property's condition must be rated C6. Deficiencies that affect the safety, soundness, structural integrity, mechanical systems or habitability of the improvements must be repaired.
- Cosmetic repairs, those that do not affect the safety, soundness, structural integrity, mechanical systems or habitability need not be made as long as:
 - The appraiser has made any necessary adjustments to the comparable sales;
 - The appraisal is not made subject to repairs; and
 - The appraiser has addressed whether the condition affects the value or marketability of the property.
- Examples of cosmetic repairs include;
 - Worn floor coverings;
 - Minor cracks in windows; and
 - Minor holes in interior walls or interior doors.
- If the appraiser notes that additions or alterations were made without required permits, the appraisal report should also contain comments on the quality and appearance of the work.
- The appraiser should note special energy-efficient items and any adverse environmental conditions.
- If the property has been modified to accommodate mixed use, the appraiser should address whether the modifications affect the property's marketability as a residence and whether the cost to restore the property to solely residential use will affect its value.
- An unusual floor plan, such as a home with tandem bedrooms or a bathroom off the kitchen, does not necessarily make a property ineligible for financing. The appraiser should address whether an unusual floor plan or similar obsolescence is also found in other properties in the neighborhood, and to the extent possible, comparable sales used should also have similar obsolescence in order to demonstrate marketability and support value.
- For properties that have recently undergone rehabilitation or renovation, the appraiser must list the changes made and provide photographs of the rehabilitation or renovation.
- When the subject property does not conform to its neighborhood in terms of type, design, age, and the materials and techniques used in its construction, the appraiser must evaluate the effect the nonconformance has on the property's value and marketability. The appraiser must not improperly take into consideration the age of the dwelling.

Accessory Units

- A mortgage is eligible if the accessory unit is either legal or legal non-conforming based on the zoning and land use requirements, and any applicable covenants or restrictions including condominium project or planned unit development (PUD) homeowners association (HOA) requirements.
- If the accessory unit is illegal based on zoning and land use requirements, a loan is eligible according to the requirements below. A mortgage secured by a two-to-four unit property with one or more accessory units is not eligible.
 - The accessory unit must include a kitchen and bathroom. Such properties may include a dwelling with a unit above a detached garage, a dwelling with an attached or detached guest apartment, or a dwelling with a basement unit.

Mortgage Professional Use ONLY. Not for Consumer distribution. Guideline subject to change without notice. Items not covered will default to appropriate agency guidelines subject to Credit Risk Review.

- Some characteristics that may indicate a two-unit property rather than a one-unit property with an accessory unit include the zoning and land use requirements, covenants or HOA requirements, the existence of separate meters, separate ingress/egress or separate addresses for the units.
- For a one-unit property with an accessory unit (legal or illegal zoning compliance) the appraiser must describe the accessory unit and appraise the property based on its current use. Any effect the accessory unit has on the market value or marketability of the subject property must be analyzed and reported.
- If the subject property accessory unit complies with the zoning and land use requirements (legal or legal non-conforming zoning compliance), the appraisal report must include at least one comparable sale with an (only one) accessory unit. The accessory unit of the comparable sale must also comply with the zoning and land use requirements to demonstrate the conformity and marketability of the subject property to its market area.
- If the subject property accessory unit does not comply with the zoning and land use requirements, the loan is eligible if:
 - The “Site” section of the appraisal report indicates that the accessory unit does not comply with zoning and land use requirements (illegal zoning compliance);
 - At least two comparable sales with each having only one accessory unit must be included in the appraisal report. The accessory unit of each comparable sale must also be non-compliant with the zoning and land use requirements to demonstrate the conformity and marketability of the subject property to its market area; and
 - The existence of the accessory unit will not jeopardize future hazard insurance claims.

Sales Comparison Approach

- The sales comparison approach is considered to be the most reliable approach to value. Underwriters must place primary emphasis on this approach when reviewing and judging the acceptability of each appraisal report.
- Appropriate Adjustments: Each comparable sale must be analyzed for similarities and differences between it and the subject property. The appraiser must make appropriate adjustments for differences, and indicate the dollar amount of the adjustments to reflect the value of the differences to the market. Comparable sales must be adjusted to the subject property, except for sales and financing concessions that must be adjusted to the market at the time of the sale.
- Sales and Financing Concessions: The appraiser must independently verify and analyze all pending and recent sales of comparable properties, report how the sales were verified and whether concessions were granted. At least three verified, closed sales of comparable properties must be analyzed and market based adjustments made for significant differences between the comparable sales and the subject property.
 - Sales or financing concessions are offered by interested parties to the transaction such as the builder, developer, property seller, or real estate agent. Because the effect of concessions on sales prices can vary with the type and amount of the concessions, any adjustments to comparable sales must be based on the market reaction to them. The appraiser should provide comparable sales that sold without concessions to justify and support the adjustments made in determining the market reaction to concessions.*
 - Adjustments may not be based solely on dollar-for-dollar deductions equal to the dollar value of the concessions. If comparable sales without concessions are not available, adjustments to comparable sales with concessions must reflect the differences between what the comparable sales actually sold for with the concessions and what they would have sold for without the concessions.
 - The appraiser’s opinion of market value must reflect the value of the subject property without the concessions. The appraiser must also provide the dollar value of the concessions as a comment in the appraisal report.

*Adjustments to the comparable sales must be made for special or creative financing or sales concessions. No adjustments are necessary for those costs which are normally paid by sellers as a result of tradition or law in a market area; these costs are readily identifiable since the seller pays these costs in virtually all sales transactions. Special or creative financing adjustments can be made to the comparable property by comparisons to financing terms offered by a third-party institutional lender that is not already involved in the property or transaction. Any adjustment should not be calculated on a mechanical dollar-for-dollar cost of the financing or concession but the dollar amount of any adjustment should approximate the market's reaction to the financing or concessions based on the appraiser's judgment. The market value estimate of the subject property must not include value assigned to furniture or any other personal property.

- Location: For appraisal report forms that are required to be completed using the UAD, the appraisal report form must include a rating of the location of the subject property and each comparable sale by providing a rating of either “neutral”, “beneficial”, or “adverse”. The location rating is for the location of the subject property within the neighborhood or market area and is not a rating for the overall neighborhood or market area.
 - The location rating, which will be abbreviated as N, B or A in the appraisal report, should describe the overall effect on value and marketability of the location of the property within the neighborhood.
- View: For appraisal report forms that are required to be completed using the UAD, the overall view associated with the subject property and each comparable sale must be rated as either “neutral”, “beneficial” or “adverse”. The UAD view rating, which will be abbreviated as N, B or A in the appraisal, should describe the overall effect on value and marketability of the view associated with the property.
 - In all appraisals, appropriate adjustments must be made for differences in view between the subject property and each comparable property to reflect the value of the differences, if any, to the market.
- Condition and Quality: In all appraisals appropriate adjustments must be made for differences in condition and quality between the subject property and each comparable property to reflect the value, if any, of the differences to the market. Sometimes it may be appropriate for an appraiser to make an adjustment for differences in quality and condition between the subject property and a comparable property even though the properties have the same UAD quality or condition rating. The appraiser is expected to provide a sufficient explanation of the basis and rationale for all adjustments, or if necessary lack of adjustments, within the appraisal report or addenda.
- Selection of Comparable Sales: The appraiser must report a minimum of three comparable sales as part of the sales comparison approach. The appraiser may submit more than three comparable sales to justify and support his/her opinion of market value, as long as at least three are actual closed sales.
 - Generally the appraiser should use comparable sales that have been closed within the last 12 months. The appraiser may use older comparable sales as additional supporting data as long as the appraiser can justify and support such use in the appraisal report. The appraiser must comment on the reasons for using any comparable sales that are more than six months old. If the appraiser believes that it is appropriate, he/she also may use pending sales and current listings as additional supporting market data as long as at least three comparable sales are actual closed sales.
 - Each comparable sale that is used in the sales comparison approach must be analyzed for differences and similarities between it and the property that is being appraised. The appraiser must make appropriate adjustments for location, terms and conditions of sale, date of sale, and the physical characteristics of the properties. The proper selection of comparable properties minimizes both the need for, and the size of, any price adjustments.
- Established Subdivisions, PUDs/Condos: For properties located in established subdivisions, units in established PUDs or units in established condominium projects, the appraiser should use comparable sales from within the subject subdivision or project.
- Newly Constructed Subdivisions, PUDs/Condos: For properties located in new subdivisions, units in new PUDs, or units in recently converted or new condominium projects, the appraiser must use comparable sales from within the subject subdivision or project as well as comparable sales in other subdivisions or projects to help demonstrate the marketability of new developments or recently converted projects and the market value of the property. The appraiser must use:

Mortgage Professional Use ONLY. Not for Consumer distribution. Guideline subject to change without notice. Items not covered will default to appropriate agency guidelines subject to Credit Risk Review.

- One comparable sale from inside the subject subdivision or project;
- One comparable sale from outside the subject subdivision or project; and
- One comparable sale from inside or outside the subject subdivision or project.

If there are no settled or closed comparable sales from inside the subject subdivision or project, pending sales from inside the subject subdivision or project are acceptable as long as the three comparable sales are actual closed sales.

The comparable sale from inside the subject subdivision or project can be a sale by the builder or developer of the subject property.

Comparable sales that are resales from within the subject subdivision or project are preferable to comparable sales from outside the subdivision or project provided the builder or developer of the subject property is not involved in the sale transaction. At a minimum at least two comparable sales must be outside the influence of the builder or developer of the subject property.

- One-Unit Property with Accessory Unit (legal or non-conforming zoning): The appraiser must include at least one comparable sale with only one accessory unit. The accessory unit of the comparable sale must also comply with the zoning and land use requirements to demonstrate the conformity and marketability of the subject property to its market area.
- One Unit Property with an Accessory Unit (illegal zoning): The appraiser must include at least two comparable sales with each having only one accessory unit. The accessory unit of each comparable sale must also be non-compliant with the zoning and land use requirements to demonstrate the conformity and marketability of the subject property to its market area.
- Be aware that there are varying conditions that characterize different types of locations. Conditions that are typical of certain locations may not be present in other locales. This does not mean that the conditions are unacceptable, rather they must be viewed in context with the nature of the area where the subject property is located.
 - For example: When the subject property is located in a suburban or urban area, the appraiser would most likely use comparable sales in the immediate vicinity of the property since suburban and urban areas are usually more densely developed and comparable sales are typically available in the subject neighborhood.
 - Rural areas often have less real estate sales activity than more populated locations. Property sales in rural locations often involve a variety of property types, and may have relatively large parcels as compared to other locations. Given the potential challenges with appraising properties in these market areas, the appraiser must be knowledgeable about the varying conditions that characterize properties in a particular geographic area. In such cases, appraisers may have to use older comparable sales, comparable sales that are located a considerable distance from the subject property or comparable sales that are not similar to the subject property. The appraiser must justify and support such use in the appraisal report.
- Mortgages secured by non-traditional types of properties are eligible. The appraiser may use traditional homes as comparable sales for unique properties as long as the appraiser determines and adjusts for any differences between the subject property and the comparable sales and can justify and support the use of the comparable sales in the appraisal report. Occasionally there may be no similar or truly comparable sales for a particular property because of the uniqueness of the property or other conditions. In such cases the appraiser must use his/her knowledge and judgment to select comparable sales that represent the best indicators of value for the subject property to reflect the actions of typical purchasers in the market. In addition comparable sales may be taken from a competing neighborhood if:
 - The appraiser has established that the neighborhoods are comparable and compete for the same buyers; and
 - Comparable sales taken from the competing neighborhood are better indicators of current market trends in the subject neighborhood than the existing comparable sales available in the subject neighborhood.

- Sale and Listing History: The appraiser must research, verify, analyze and report:
 - Any current agreement for sale of the subject property;
 - Any offering for sale of the subject property in the 12 months prior to the effective date of the appraisal;
 - Any prior sales or transfers of the subject property for the three years prior to the effective date of the appraisal; and
 - Any prior sales or transfers of each comparable sale for the year prior to the date of sale of each comparable sale.

The underwriter's review and acceptability of each appraisal should include an analysis of the sale and listing history. Confirm that the sales price trend in relation to the appraiser's opinion of market value is reasonable and representative of the market.

For purchase transactions analyze the appraisal report and the current contract for sale of the subject property.

For both purchase and refinance transactions, the underwriter's underwriting analysis of the appraisal report should include any current listing or offering for sale for the subject property, the sales history of the subject property and comparable sales, and the current ownership of the subject property.

To reduce risk of liability resulting from fraudulent or inaccurate appraisals, analyze the subject property and comparable sales and evaluate the time elapsed between the date(s) the property was acquired and the date(s) resold, or the date of the current resale contract, if applicable. If the sales history of the subject property or comparable sales indicates current or prior sale prices may be excessive, and resale dates occurred shortly after the property seller's acquisition of the property, the appraisal report should provide evidence to justify and support a rapidly appreciating real estate market, significant improvements that resulted in a corresponding increase in the property value or a previous sale that was below market value due to a distress or tax sale.

- Reconciliation: The data and information presented in the appraisal report must justify and support the appraiser's opinion of market value. The appraiser must explain how the final value conclusion was determined and the rationale must be consistent with the comments, conclusions and assumptions stated throughout the appraisal report.

The reconciliation must contain any conditions of the appraisal on which the final opinion of market value is based.

If the subject transaction involves sales or financing concessions, the appraiser's opinion of market value must reflect the value of the subject property without the concessions. The appraiser must also provide the dollar value of the concessions as a comment in the appraisal report.

Cost and Income Approach

- The cost approach to value is not required for appraisals of one-unit single family residences, PUDs or condo units.
- The underwriter may request the appraiser to develop and report the cost approach to value even when it is not required for the transaction.
- The appraiser must develop and report the result of any approach to value that is applicable and necessary for an appraisal, even if the underwriter did not request it.
- The cost approach may be appropriate especially when appraising properties that are:
 - New or proposed construction;
 - Under renovation;
 - Unique because of their styles or construction methods; or
 - Have functional obsolescence not typical for the market.

Mortgage Professional Use ONLY. Not for Consumer distribution. Guideline subject to change without notice. Items not covered will default to appropriate agency guidelines subject to Credit Risk Review.

- When the cost approach to value is developed, the appraiser must make proper adjustments for any items detrimental to stability or marketability, such as physical, functional and external depreciation that are not typical for the market.
- The income approach to value is required for appraisals of two-to-four unit properties.
- The underwriter may request the appraiser to develop and report the income approach to value even when it is not required for the transaction.
- The appraiser must develop and report the result of any approach to value that is applicable and necessary for an appraisal even if the underwriter does not request it.
- Appraisals that rely primarily on the income or cost approaches to value in order to estimate market value are unacceptable.
- Comparable Rent Data for Two-to-Four Unit Properties: At least three rental comparable sales must be analyzed in the “comparable rental data” section. These rental comparable sales must:
 - Have current rental information; and
 - Be units similar to and located near the subject property.
- The rental comparable sales are usually not the same comparable properties used in the sales comparison approach. The appraisal report should state that the units and properties selected as rental comparable sales are comparable to the subject property, both the units and the overall property, and should accurately represent the rental market for the subject property unless otherwise stated in the report.
- Subject’s Rent Schedule for Two-to-Four Unit Properties: This section contains the subject property’s current actual rents and estimated market rents. The estimated market rents for the subject property must be supported in the appraisal report and be consistent with the data presented throughout the report.
- Sales Comparison Approach for Two-to-Four Unit Properties: In addition to the other requirements in this section, the appraisal must contain the unadjusted units of comparison for the comparable sales. If the appraisal is prepared in conjunction with a purchase transaction, the units of comparison must be provided for the subject property as well. These units of comparison are the sales price per square foot of gross building area (GBA), per unit and per room and the gross rent multiplier (GRM). The comment area of the sales comparison analysis must reconcile the adjusted sales prices of the comparable sales and the unadjusted units of comparison, as appropriate, according to the manner in which such properties sell in the defined market area.
 - The appraiser must indicate in the comments area which factors are deemed most consistent and which factors typical investors or purchasers in that market consider when purchasing a similar property.

Properties with Energy-Efficient Improvements

- Energy-efficient features such as photovoltaic systems, water efficient improvements, energy-efficient windows, or high-performing energy-efficient homes must be identified and any impact to market value must be recognized in the appraisal report.
- The contributory value of energy improvements and any premium paid for a high-performing energy-efficient home must be measured based on the market reaction, similar to any other property feature.
- Appraisers must be familiar with energy reports, energy ratings or other new concepts that may be developed to identify the energy efficiency of a home. If relied upon, any reports must be generally acceptable and, if available, these reports and information must be included in the appraiser’s analysis.
- If the high-performing energy-efficient home or energy improvements are new to the market, there may be a lack of sales with similar features or a lack of data available from traditional data sources.
 - In these cases, the appraiser may also need to consider whether methods such as the income approach, cost analysis, discounted cash flows, market surveys or any other applicable methods are appropriate.

- If the appraiser's analysis concludes an adjustment is necessary, the appraiser must justify and support the analysis and conclusions. This information may be included in an addendum or as supplementary documentation, as applicable.
- Solar panels subject to a lease agreement, power purchase agreement (PPA) or similar type of agreement may not be included in the appraised value of the property.

Mixed-Use Properties

- The appraiser must provide the following when appraising a mixed-use property:
 - An appraisal with an interior and exterior inspection;
 - A detailed description of any accommodations made for the commercial use of the subject property;
 - A discussion of any adverse impacts of the commercial use;
 - A statement describing any market resistance to the commercial use, and adjustments for any commercial features made to the comparable sales; and
 - An opinion of market value based on the property's residential nature.
- Each residential property with mixed-use must meet all of the following requirements:
 - The property must be located in a residential neighborhood, be primarily residential, and must be typical for the properties in the market;
 - The use must represent a legal, permissible use of the property under the local zoning requirements;
 - The property must be a one-unit primary residence;
 - If the property has a commercial use, the borrower must be the owner and the operator of the business;
 - The dwelling may not be modified in a manner that has an adverse impact on its marketability as a residence; and
 - The commercial use must not have an adverse effect on the habitability and safety of the property or site.

Obtaining Subsequent Appraisal Reports/Reconciling Multiple Opinions of Market Value

Multiple Opinions of Market Value

- Underwriters are required to evaluate an appraisal to determine whether or not the appraisal report meets all applicable requirements.
- Before rejecting an appraisal the underwriter should request the appraiser to provide additional information and/or address any deficiencies with the appraisal report.
- If the appraiser does not adequately address the underwriter's concerns and the underwriter is unable to conclude that the appraisal report meets all requirements, then the appraisal must be rejected and a new appraisal must be obtained.
- Appraiser Independence Requirements permits lenders to obtain a second or subsequent appraisal if:
 - There is a reasonable basis to believe that the initial appraisal was flawed or tainted and such basis is clearly and appropriately noted in the loan file;
 - The appraisal is obtained pursuant to written, pre-established bona fide pre- or post-funding appraisal review or quality control processes or underwriting guidelines; or
 - It is required by law.
- If the initial appraisal report was not rejected and a second or subsequent appraisal report, appraisal desk review report or an appraisal field review is obtained, the underwriter must determine which of the opinions of market value is the most accurate.
- Comply with the Appraiser Independence Requirements and adhere to a policy of selecting the most reliable appraisal rather than the appraisal that states the highest value.
- The underwriter's appraisal review and reconciliation process must result in the underwriter relying on the most accurate and supported opinion of market value.

- A copy of all valuation documents used in the analysis as well as written documentation justifying the decision as to which appraisal report or appraisal review was used to underwrite the loan must be retained in the loan file.
